The Genesis of a Monumental Work: McClintock and Strong

The story of the Cyclopedia of Biblical, Theological, and Ecclesiastical Literature is inextricably linked to its principal architects: John McClintock and James Strong. Both were distinguished scholars and clergymen of their time, driven by a shared vision to create a comprehensive and accessible reference work that would consolidate the vast knowledge accumulated in biblical studies, theological discourse, and church history. John McClintock (1814-1870), a Methodist Episcopal minister and academic, was a prolific writer and editor. He recognized the need for a resource that would bring together diverse scholarly perspectives and present them in a systematic and understandable manner. James Strong (1822-1894), also a Methodist clergyman and scholar, brought his prodigious intellect and organizational skills to the project. He is perhaps best known for his later work, the Strong's Exhaustive Concordance of the Bible, a testament to his dedication to biblical scholarship. Their collaboration, which began in the mid-19th century, was a Herculean effort. They envisioned a work that would not only define key terms and concepts but also provide detailed biographical sketches of influential figures, analyze major theological debates, and trace the development of ecclesiastical structures and practices. The scale of their ambition was matched only by their commitment to thoroughness and accuracy.
